

Decision-making obstacles

As if making good decisions wasn't hard enough, there are some obstacles that may get in our way of being accountable for our choices.

Put your decision to the test

Here's a few tests to see if a decision is right for you

What skills will children need in the future?

What does the future look like? What skills will children need to thrive? Guest blogger, Connie Toenjes, is thinking futuristically and is here to remind us that with a constantly changing world, we must think ahead.

Positive reinforcement is key to good behavior

Cedar Valley has gone above and beyond in building a foundation of good character.

What does college and career readiness mean?

Is there more of a deficit in academics or character? Guest blogger, Mike Danilson, believes post-secondary life will require a foundation of character education in order for students to excel.

4 tips to get you on the road to good decisions

Imagine you're faced with an tough ethical issue, and you want to make a good decision. But how do you know what is the good one? Here's a few tips.