

Teaching Leadership

citizenship:

Teaching Citizenship: Leadership

"A leader is someone who demonstrates what is possible."

- Mark Yarnell

You can show good citizenship by being a leader in your school or community. Leadership isn't a job - it is an action. Everyone in your family can be a leader.

- 4 steps to Being a Leader
1. Commit to a shared goal
 2. Motivate others
 3. Help others do their best
 4. Convince others to join you and believe in your goal

Here's what the Four Steps look like in action.

The Smith family has decided to spend Saturday cleaning up their local park. They can all be a leader in the project.

1. They all want the park to be clean, and they are dedicated to the project. (Committing to a shared goal.)
2. When one member of the family gets tired, another reminds them of how great the park will look when they are done. (Motivate others)
3. If a member of the family is having trouble with their task, another can give them help or teach them how to do it. (Help others do their best)
4. The project goes by quickly because each member of the family brought a friend to help clean the park. (Convince others to join you and believe in your goal)

Discussion starter

Ask your child what they think: how do you think our community or school could be better? What can you do to help?

Check out more tips on teaching character at TheRayCenter.org